Items of Street and Town too Brief for Separate Heads.

The building of a 600 ton per day cyanide tailings plant is contemplated at the DeLamar mine in Lincoln county.

Dante Menasco, the 16-year-old boy who was among the victims of the accident at San Francisco Thanksgiving day, was formerly of Eureka, Nev.

Yeates and Rutledge, the smallpox patients at Tuscarora, are reported to be getting along nicely, and fear of a spread of the disease is daily diminishing.

Ely, Nevada, is likely to have a railroad connection. Senator W. A. Clark has bought extensively into local copper properties, and if he develops them there will be a road built from Eureka to Ely.

George W. Maper, the Reno banker, shipped twelve cars of cattle last week from Wells to Reno. When the train reached Lovelock the cattle were unloaded and twenty-eight dead animals were found among the lot. Silver

MULES, RATS AND MEN.

Miners Show Wisdom in Paying Heed to Certain Phenomena.

"Well, that isn't superstition; it's reality," and the coal mine inspector didn't seem a bit pleased with the suggestion that superstition might sometimes be responsible for the actions of miners.

"Coal miners," he went on to say,
"are not superstitious. Hear noises? Of course they do, but do people suppose those noises are imaginary? It beats all how little is known generally about coal mining.

"Folks get it into their heads," the inspector continued, "that a man who will quit work in a certain part of a mine because he sees the rats deserting that section is superstitious when,
as a matter of fact, he simply displays sound judgment. Very soon after the rats quit sounds will be heard, and later on a slide follows. What would have happened to the man had he credited his fears to superstition by disregarding the exodus of the rats and the subsequent noises?

"Rats are the first of a mine's inhabitants to realize danger, and then comes the mule. Man is the last. So it is only natural that he should take as positive indications of trouble the actions of the others, and he should not be regarded as a superstitious creature on that account.

"After rats desert an entry it is next to impossible to get a mule into it, not because the rats left, but because the mule realizes the danger. Left to themselves rats or mules would never be caught in slides in mines, but it is different with men, who will not follow the lead of the other two."—Denver Post.

A Cruel Joke.

A Yale Summit girl recently played a cruel joke on her mother, and this is how it happened: She accidentally found a love letter that her father had written to her mother in the balcony days of their courtship. She read the letter to her mother, substituting her own name and that of her lover. The mother raved with anger and stamped her foot in disgust, forbidding her daughter to have anything to do with a man who would write such nonsensical stuff to a girl. The girl then gave the letter to her mother to read, and the house became so suddenly quiet that she could hear the cat winking in the back yard.—Salisbury Press.

"Single" Flight.

When Bob Burdette started out to lecture, he struck the same town as Henry Ward Beecher, who sent for him.

"Well, young man, how do you like it?"

"Mr. Beecher," he replied, "it is awful. I nearly die every night from nervousness."

"Let me console you, then. The longer you lecture the more nervous you'll get." And Bob declared it to be true.—Saturday Evening Post.

A Close Estimate.

"I don't want to hear anybody say that our boy Josias doesn't earn his salt," said Farmer Cornstossel.

"You said it yourself once," said his wife.

"Well, I take it back. I don't want to do the boy any injustice. I have been lookin' over these market quotations, and I have concluded that Josias does earn his salt, just about. But if they'd 'a' reckon I'd have to give in."—Washington Star.

Tough on the Joker.

The contributor wrote a joke about a plumber whose bills were always normal. "That," said the editor, rejecting it, "is not a joke; it's a lie."

The contributor tried again with a story of the plumber whose charges left nothing to be desired on the score of size. "That," said the editor, who had suffered, "is not a lie. Neither is it a joke."—Scraps.

Never say die. Expire sounds much better.—Chicago News.

SENATE MORE OPPOSED TO HAY-PAUNCEFOTE TREATY.

There seems to be a determination entertained by American Senators to proceed upon principles purely American respecting the Hay-Pauncefote treaty which will relieve a majority of that body from further designation by way of description as a British House of Lords at Washington. The JOURNAL is not sufficiently vain over its position in opposition to the course pursued by Secretary Hay to claim that anything it said influenced in any way the action of the Senate, but it does feel its position was correct from an American standpoint when opposing and reviewing the position of Hay respecting the Nicaraguan canal and other pro-British work of that weak American who had for every movement made by him when conducting affairs of State with the court of St. James given his countrymen to understand that he was ashamed of them and his country.

There is a pardonable vanity that should not be attributed to weakness when it is mentioned by the JOURNAL that its national pride is a number of degrees higher than it was when engaged in assailing the anti-American views and work of Hay and a majority of the United States Senate at the last session of Congress respecting their work in connection with the Hay-Pauncefote treaty. The canal will be constructed according to American ideals about national rights and when completed will be an American work for present and future use as American individuality may demand in peace or in war. Not only the United States but the American Continent will stand before the commercial and business world possessed of an individuality purely American for the protection of national rights that will include national integrity against any encroachment from European sources which are Monarchical and anti-Republican.

As matters are in the United States Senate upon the question of rejecting or approving the Hay-Pauncefote treaty, it will be rejected if necessary to do so to maintain a truly American position. The partisan has been set aside by the patriot and a largeness has taken possession of the mind of the patriot which declares there is strength in the republic which patriots all over the land during the last session of Congress concluded had departed from the land of Washington, Jefferson and Lincoln.

It is time Hayism had taken its departure from the country, as it has no use for it in national affairs, nor do the people have any use for it in their private or business matters, as its presence humiliates them and they can dispense with it now and for all time in the future. Old fashioned Americanism is again at the front where Hayism had encroached itself while it crawled at the feet of royalty. The American mind has been refreshed by dews that have lately fallen to bathe the graves of the heroes of 1776 and a new growth of patriotism has arisen from the sacred dust of revolutionary fires, which is having an effect upon Senators that is making itself known to kid-glove statesmen and small politicians in a way that will probably close society fads in matters of state, which should receive form from comprehensive minds, and when formed should be directed by cool brains.

The clouds of despotism are not so dark as they have been, and the present attitude of the Senate has made a rift in the clouds through which rays from the light of liberty once more enlighten the people and are directing attention from the dollar, which has been receiving the worship of a commercial world for the last three decades, aided by a love of Mammon among the people, which seemingly had removed from the public mind that regard for the public weal required to maintain purity as a public duty.

It is a public duty upon the citizen which he must exercise to sustain the relation of a patriot to so direct matters of state that the country will be kept free from entanglements with foreign states that might result to its injury. The way to keep free from positions that may embarrass its present or future relations is to act independent of other states in matters which clearly are American.

Official Vote of Nevada.

The JOURNAL is indebted to Secretary of State Howell for the official returns of the State of Nevada's vote. It may be thus briefly summarized:

The Bryan electors received an average plurality of 2,523; Newlands, 1,785; Fitzgerald, 2,950; Evans, 962; Booher, 1,844.

The total vote was 10,165.

For the benefit of people with short memories, the Washoe county plurality will be repeated: Bryan, 92; Newlands, 278; Fitzgerald, 383; Tarrittin, 507; Averill, 34; Jackson, 221.

Sentence Pronounced.

Charles Canby was sentenced by Judge Carier yesterday morning for the embezzlement of a check. He will serve ten years in the Carson penitentiary, whither he will be taken by Sheriff McAnis this afternoon.

Mrs. Jessie Goodwin, beloved wife of H. K. Goodwin, died at her home in Milpitas at an early hour yesterday morning after a lingering illness. In her last sickness she was sustained by the tender care of her husband and daughter. She bore her sufferings with fortitude and died peacefully, as becomes one whose life was a record of unselfish devotion to duty. Mrs. Goodwin was a native of Monterey and was for years a resident of this city, where she had many friends who sincerely mourn her loss and sympathize with her family in their bereavement. Her remains will be brought here for interment and the funeral will take place to-morrow. She leaves a husband and three daughters, Mrs. Henrietta Parkman, Misses Flora and Grace Goodwin.—Watsonville Daily Register, Dec. 1, 1900.

[Mrs. Goodwin was a sister of Mrs. L. C. Booth, a teacher in the public schools.]

Tamale Party and Dance.

Don't overlook the dance and tamale party in Wheelmen's hall this evening. A jolly good time is looked for. There will be dancing for a while. Then tamales and coffee for another while, after which there will be some more dancing. Club members and their ladies are eligible for attendance. If you miss this opportunity for a good time you will regret it. The hall has been handsomely decorated for the occasion.

Jolly St. Nicholas.

A. B. Manheim, the confectioner, is the first merchant in the city this season to adorn his window with a Santa Claus. Manheim may or may not believe in the good saint and his day, but that is not the question under discussion.

The Santa Claus in question is actuated by some sort of mechanical device which keeps him on the qui vive. He is surrounded by handsome toys and over him is a good imitation of snow-covered boughs.

The Next Lecture.

Dr. William Rader, the noted pulpit orator of San Francisco, will be the next attraction of the Star lecture course. His subject will be "John and Jonathan."

WAS THIS A CASE OF MURDER?

What Cansed Perkins' Death?

MATTER TO BE INVESTIGATED

It Is Possible That an Opiate Was Administered to Him.

Did George Perkins die a natural death or was he murdered with an opiate?

It has developed that Charles Cantry might be able to answer that question if he so desired.

The story of the old man's death—so far as anybody except Cantry can tell it—is as follows: He was sick for some weeks in his room, No. 32, in the Clarendon hotel. He was attended by his daughter, Mrs. May Middleton, and by a paid nurse, A. A. Smith. On several occasions Drs. Thoma and Finniger prescribed medicines for him. The former physician says that the deceased was weak with the infirmities of age, having passed four-score years, but was not, in his opinion, in immediate danger of death when he last called at his room.

Dr. Finniger says: "Mr. Perkins' death was unexpected to me. He told me that he had a check stolen from him. I examined the glass with which Cantry is alleged to have administered him a potion. Its contents had been either highly volatile or odorless for I could not detect what its contents had been. It was probably twelve hours after the dose had been administered that I examined the glass."

Mrs. May Middleton was interviewed yesterday. She said: "My father died Saturday afternoon, November 10. 'Two days before,' so father told me while briefly conscious just before his death. 'This Cantry, whom I had only seen once before, came into my room while Smith was out and said he was a druggist and that he would get some medicine that would do me good. He brought it in a small glass and I drank part of it.'"

"In a few minutes Mr. Smith came in and found father breathing unnaturally. It took a long time to awake him and his eyes were staring. He never was like himself before he died 48 hours later."

"Mr. Smith found the glass. It smelled as though it had ether or chloroform in it."

"Cantry had been in father's room once before and saw this check for $120."

Cantry came to Reno from Carson about the first of November, having just completed a two-years' term for burglary committed in Elko county.

According to his own testimony he visited the old man, with whom he had not previously been acquainted. He carried "chicken soup" and "medicine" to him, for which he charged Mr. Perkins $7.50.

Cantry says the old man had only $1 in cash and a check for $120. He is alleged to have given the ex-convict both, requesting his chance acquaintance to return the change.

An hour or so later the nurse, Smith, came into the room and found him patient in a "strange stupor," "breathing unnaturally." He never entirely recovered his normal condition before death.

In the opinion of the officers, who gave some thought to this case, there is sufficient evidence connecting Cantry with Perkins' death to warrant an indictment against him. It is strange that a thorough investigation of the causes of George Perkins' death has not been made. There is still time to clear up a mystery which may mean murder.

Four cars of sheep and six cars of cattle comprised the stock shipments yesterday.

LASTED MIGHTY SUDDEN

Gans Defeated by McGovern.

INTERESTING PRELIMINARIES

Terry Knocked His Adversary Out in Two Swift Rounds.

In two hotly contested rounds McGovern won from Gans at Tattersall's, Chicago, last night.

The JOURNAL is indebted to Messrs. Brearley, Unleske and Wilson for the items given below:

A big audience filled the Owl sporting rooms while the returns were coming in. Hundreds of dollars dropped into the pool box during the last half hour before the set to.

Betting was heaviest on Gans in rounds from one to four consequently the Owl people were not big winners, so to speak.

When Referee Siler's decision was announced there was loud applause, otherwise the spectators displayed quiet interest.

Here are the bulletins condensed: Two of the preliminaries were Kid Herman vs. Kid Finnegan, Kid Bernstein vs. Young Munzie, lightweights.

The first event was declared a draw. In the second preliminary the decision was given to Munzie, Bernstein being disqualified for fouling in clinches.

Another bout was between Danny Dougherty of Philadelphia and Morris Raach of Chicago, bantam weights.

Siler awarded the decision to Raach on a foul in the fourth round.

Martin Duffy and Otto Zeigler, Chicago light weights, took a fall out. The former got decision.

Now comes the big event. McGovern is looked after by Sam Harris, Danny Dougherty, Charley Mayhew and Jack Donahue.

Gans is handled by A. Hereford, Sam Balen and Harry Forbys.

Gans enters the ring, closely followed by McGovern. Gans very cool. Odds 7 to 6 that McGovern puts Gans out. The men receive instructions. Martin Flaberty challenges winner with $1,000 posted.

Time last round was two minutes and five seconds.

Their Troubles Are Many.

The marital difficulties of the Earl and Countess Russell No. 2 are still occupying the English courts and papers. These titled people were wedded in Reno some months ago, after each had obtained Nevada divorces, which don't seem to be worth the paper they are written on over in "Yarrap."

This is the latest news from the seat of war: "George J. Somerville was this morning granted a decree of divorce against Marian Somerville and £1500 damages against Earl Russell, with whom the defendant was accused of having been intimate. No defense was entered against Somerville's petition."

 That everybody uses groceries. However, many adulterated by scheming manufacturers. Such concern do not get our trade. Our prices are as low as GOOD GROCERIES are sold for

THINGS FOR CHRISTMAS.
 Are so plentiful in our lin that merely mentioning them would look like cataloguing, but here's a very incomplete list of what may make glad the heart of man or maid wife or boy—Table cutlery, skates, fancy scissors, pocket knives, miniature tool chests for the half-grown; full sized for the full-grown.

One With Wisdom and Experience Knows where to procure his Christmas supplies of groceries; staples like sugar, tea and coffee, of course; luxuries as well for that one day. To the uninitiated we may say that you can't do better than here anywhere; our modest opinion is that you can't do as well. Get your orders in early.

What A Tale It Tells.
 If that mirror of yours shows a wretched, sallow complexion, a jaun-diced look, moth patches and blotches on the skin, it's liver trouble; but Dr.
 King's New Life Pills regulate the liver, purify the blood, give clear skin, rosy cheeks, rich complexion. Only 25 cts. at S. J. Hodgkinson's Drug Store.

They Struck It Rich.
 It was a grand thing for this community that such an enterprising firm as S. J. Hodgkinson secured the agency for Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, the wonderful remedy that has startled the world by its marvelous cures. The furor of enthusiasm over it has boomed their business, as the demand for it is immense. They give free trial bottles to sufferers, and positively guarantee it to cure Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, Croup, and all Throat and Lung Troubles. A trial proves its merit. Price 50 cts. and $1.00

Many Things Are Meant
 By many dealers who claim to handle groceries. When they advertise GOOD GROCERIES no mention is made of PRICE. When price is mentioned QUALITY IS OVER-LOOKED. Again, sometimes they dwell on the virtues of a LARGE STOCK. In this case no claim is made to carrying FRESH GOODS.
